"I have received info from the French company who are the owners of the mill manufacturing the dry gum paper and following is what they say about Pancake dry gum paper:

HEALTH & SAFETY

Royal Scot and Pancake are made of a 100% wood free chemical pulp paper and a dispersion of dextrin glue. The material therefore does not present any risk for the health.

ENVIRONMENT

All the raw material used for the production of Royal Scot and Pancake complies with the Directive EEC 94/62/CE of the 20th of December 1994 and with the French Decree No. 98/63B of the 20th of July 1998.

That is exactly the wording they have used.

Their agent in the UK added the comment that the same paper and gum is used for postage stamps which are licked every day"

Hope this is the information you require.

Maggie Elers
