Re UK Fire supplied Fire Blankets

Dear Mr Gibbins

I can confirm that I have spoken to our supplier of fire blankets and they confirm that there are no H & S issue related to their manufactured fire blankets.

Whilst the fire blankets are manufactured from a woven glass fibre fabric it is coated with silicon rubber on both surfaces and all edged are overlapped. The only proviso is that damaged fire blankets should be withdrawn from service as there is a technical possibility of fibres being released from the site of tears or significant damage.
